

WHIG AND COURIER.

BY BOUTELLE BROTHERS.

All business letters should be addressed to Boutelle Brothers, and commercial messages for publication should be addressed "Editor of Whig and Courier."

SATURDAY, AUGUST 22, 1896.

REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS
For President
WILLIAM MCKINLEY,
or OhioFor Vice President
GARRET A. HOBART,
of New JerseyFor Governor
LLEWELLYN POWERS, of MoultonFOR CONGRESSMEN
First District—THOMAS KELLY
Second District—THOMAS D. COOK
Third District—THOMAS M. LILLY
Fourth District—CHARLES A. LOUETTE, Jr.DEMOCRATIC NOMINATIONS
Senators—William S. Smith
Edgar F. Weeks
Albert E. Day
Sheriff—A. B. Brown
County Attorney—Bertram L. Smith
District Attorney—John C. Brown
County Treasurer—Henry L. Stinson
County Commissioner—Lewis A. Weston

STATE ELECTION, MONDAY, SEPT. 14

For Assignment of Speakers See
Third Page

Galt Hamilton.

In the quiet and peaceful atmosphere of the old homestead at Hamilton, Massachusetts a few days ago the immortal spirit of Mary Abigail Dodge passed to the higher life, after an earthly career of labor and usefulness that has impressed her literary pseudonym of "Galt Hamilton" upon the public mind as that of one of the most brilliant and remarkable women of her day and generation.

It is a significant tribute to the power of genius and the force of character that the great burying world in all its hues and clarities, finds occasion to pause and long enough to note that it has been bereaved in the death of this daughter of New England whose pen was her weapon and her sepulchre, whose mission was to valiantly champion Truth, and Righteousness wherever she found them assailed.

With a nobly masculine power of static mind and logic she united all the fine insight and delicate appreciation of a highly developed feminine intellectuality, and was thus exceptionally equipped for controversy as was frequently demonstrated when she met and disconcerted some of the ablest antagonists in the scenes of public debate.

Her luminous relations with Mr. and Mrs. Blaine as a cousin of the latter, made her an inmate of their home during portions of the most important periods of her life, and brought her into contact with a large circle of those who were prominently identified with the world's progress.

The effect of these associations and opportunities is readily observable in her writings, throughout a large part of which, including her most important work in the writing of this life, her admiration for Mr. Blaine finds constant and earnest expression.

It may truly be said that she was equally zealous in the assertion of religious faith and the upholding of her political convictions, and there is hardly another instance of such persistent, tireless devotion to the cause of a stranger, than was shown in her unflinching exertions for years to secure the release of Mrs. Maybrick, from her life sentence in prison in England, for the murder of her husband, of whom crime Miss Dodge believed her innocent.

Of late her health has been shot and feeble and her mind seems to have dwelt somewhat in the mystic twilight that hovers on the verge of the great beyond. Only a few weeks ago the writer of these lines received a copy of her latest writing, the little volume bearing an inscription in her own writing in pencil, over the familiar signature which lacked some of the firmness of other days, with the pathetic words "I'd take of our common memories. Now that the pen still has dropped from the tired fingers, and the kindly voice has been hushed among the memories that are summed up by the death of Mary Abigail Dodge, none could be more tender or more consoling to her mourning friends, than the recalling of her message a few years ago to a sorrowing friend, in which she eloquently declared her sympathy and her faith.

"Does it seem possible that the world has been going through such heart-breaking all these generations, and yet every generation starts out with fresh hope to meet the same disappointments and agonies? It must be that this world is only the beginning—just a glimmer of what are the possible joys of life, just a preparation for those joys in the real life beyond."

To Stump the West and South.

Mr. Bourke Cockran, whose dissection of the Boer Orator's false promises has aroused such general response of the audience, will make speeches in the West and South in the campaign under the auspices of the Democratic Honest Money League. This organization is to be extended to every State in the Union, and it will maintain an enfranchising contest for sound money and the repudiation by Democratic voters of the Populist candidate.

Demand and Reply

This is the demand made by the Chicago platform which Mr. Bryan heartily approves.

He demands the free and unlimited coinage of both silver and gold at the present legal ratio of 16 to 1, without waiting for the aid or consent of any other nation.

This is the reply made by Major Mc-

Kinley.

"If free coinage of silver means a fifty-cent coin, it is not an honest dollar, for it is not equivalent to a one-dollar coin. It is a dollar, equal to a gold dollar, we will not then have cheap dollars, but dollars just like those we now have, and which will be as hard to get as when we have coinage of gold and silver. We will not let him for him to pay his debts."

Which candidate will burn American voters approve?

New York Sun
Who Is He?

Is there a Democratic candidate for President?

A Populist named Bryan has been nominated by two parties. But is there a Democratic candidate for President?

A young man of the name of Bryan has a place in the Madison Square Garden last week. He had a perfect right to read such a place. It seems clear that he enjoyed himself in doing so.

What was there in that place to interest such a man who had to vote the Democratic ticket with his wife? Who is he? He is in the Democratic party. It was a the gold now in use, just as it has done wherever the free coinage of silver has been adopted. Here is the testimony of the Democratic Secretary of the Treasury and time.

Mr. Bryan uttered some ten thousand words in his Madison Square Garden reading. He uttered the word "Democratic" exactly once.

STEAMBOATS.

S.S. & I.N.G.
Steamship Co.
SUMMER SERVICE, 1896.

Steamers City of Bangor and S.S. I.N.G. will continue to make early arrivals and late departures through the season. Commencing Monday, June 29, 1896, steamers will leave Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 11 a.m. and other days at 3 p.m. For Boston via Winterport, Bucksport, Del Norte, Newell, Bangor, L.A. S. L. Hill, G. M. Boston, 227 State St.

RETURNING.

Steamer City of Bangor, daily, except Sunday, at 3 p.m.

From Rockland daily, except Monday, at 11 a.m. and other days at 3 p.m. to Bangor Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 10 a.m. and other days at 3 p.m. For Boston via Winterport, Bucksport, Del Norte, Newell, Bangor, L.A. S. L. Hill, G. M. Boston, 227 State St.

STEAMERS.

Steamer City of Bangor, daily, except Sunday, at 3 p.m.

From Rockland daily, except Monday, at 11 a.m. and other days at 3 p.m. to Bangor Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays at 10 a.m. and other days at 3 p.m. For Boston via Winterport, Bucksport, Del Norte, Newell, Bangor, L.A. S. L. Hill, G. M. Boston, 227 State St.

IMPROVED METHODS.

STEAMERS.

